

Ultimate
Banking

The financial world has changed. The sound of rulebooks being torn up is deafening, and the way we have worked in finance and banking over recent years is about to be re-written. More than ever, financial services consultants will be expected to deliver superior insights that will bring about growth and recovery. Businesses tell us that finding and recruiting people in this climate who will calmly, confidently, and correctly meet those demands is a challenge.

We're proud to say that it's a challenge that the Ultimate Banking team, as a specialist banking recruiter, is already meeting. We regularly place talented individuals in the right jobs where they are making a major contribution to the knowledge, advice and strategy that's leading change.

Ultimate website : Ultimate Banking is a small but very experienced team of financial recruitment consultants that needed to quickly establish a powerful online presence. Working with web company Gunpowder Studios (www.gunpowderstudios.co.uk), we wrote, designed and launched a website from scratch within four weeks, complete with its own content management system and blog.
